A Mother Essence

Time. Clocks beat seconds. The heart beats experiences. In times of transition, your soul gathers material from all your experiences... past, present, or future. When you tune into this facet of your heart, you participate in your unfolding as an artist listening to her muse. Honour yourself for your role in creating the colour palette with which you are playing. You are skilled. And know it is safe to trust the awesome rhythm of life that is carrying you on.
